NATURE'S WARNING

Barre People Must Recognize and Heed It.

Kidney ills come quietly—mysteriously. But nature always warns you through the urine. Notice the kidney secretions. See if the color is unhealthy. If there are settlements and sediment. Pains. To ward off Bright's disease or diabetes.

Doan's have done great work in Barre. Norman York, French street, Barre, Vt., says: "I was subject for six years to attacks of kidney trouble, and I believe the complaint was brought on by a strain. I had pains in my back, and was led to believe that my kidneys were out of order by too frequent passages of the kidney secretions. If I stooped to lift anything, it was only with the greatest difficulty that I could regain an erect position. I finally used Doan's Kidney Pills, prepared at E. A. Drown's drug store, and their effect was wonderful. The pain in my back soon ceased and the kidney secretions no longer bothered me."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

A Woman's Great Idea is how to make herself attractive. But, without health, it is hard for her to be lovely in face, form or temper. A weak, sickly woman will be nervous and irritable. Constipation and kidney poisons show in pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. But Electric Bitters always prove a godsend to women who want health, beauty and friends. They regulate the stomach, liver and kidneys; purify the blood, give strong nerves, bright eyes, pure breath, smooth, velvety skin, lovely complexion, good health. Pension Legislation.

R. D. Talbot of Parsons, chairman of the board of county commissioners, has always taken an active interest in promoting the welfare of old soldiers. His sympathy is naturally extended to them, and he believes in practical methods of assistance. As past junior vice commander of the G. A. R., department of Kansas, he has gained a knowledge regarding pension matters that enables him to speak advisedly. He advocates the adoption of a graded age pension and denounces the bill introduced by Congressman Anthony. He gives his reasons as follows:

"The pension bill introduced by Congressman D. R. Anthony, about which there is a difference of opinion among the leading lights in G. A. R. circles in Kansas, is, in my opinion, one of the worst measures introduced in Congress. Evidently it was introduced in interest of the medical examining boards, the special examiners, detectives and army of clerks in the pension office, who in the years gone by have taken millions of money which rightfully should have been paid to the old soldiers."

"What the old boys should have is a graded age pension. Let the soldier's honorable discharge tell how old he is, and give him a pension according to age—thereby saving the old soldier and his family the money that would be needlessly expended in examinations."

"The ex-soldier soldiers are fast passing away. Let us not, if we desire their welfare in the few years they may live, insult them with an order to go before a medical board of examiners, to be stripped and made to go through all the stunts and evolutions practiced on them by these examinations for the past forty years. But few of the old soldiers are over 65 years of age. They deserve better treatment. Only a living by manual labor, and it seems a useless and insulting measure to cause them to submit to this examination."

"It takes nearly double the money to purchase the necessities of life now that it did twelve years ago, and old boys should have a pension sufficient to keep them without calling on the local authorities for help, which in a great many cases they are obliged to do."

"Ex-President Roosevelt said that the union soldier did the one thing needful to preserve this government."

"Let this government owe to the one thing needful for the few who are left by passing a graded age pension bill that will give them as follows: $20 at 65; $25 at 68; $30 at 70; $35 at 75 and $40 at 80 years of age."

THE GRAPE BERRY MOTH.

How Its Ravages Among the Vines May Be Prevented.

The cause of wormy grapes is the larvae of the grape berry moth. Small purplish brown moths appear in grape vineyards in May and June and lay their tiny eggs, probably on the stems of the blossom clusters. Here they hatch, and the young caterpillars immediately begin eating the blossom buds even before the latter open. They spin a delicate web among the buds, and as the larvae feed throughout June they soon attack the recently set berries. As a result, many buds and young berries are destroyed, a flower cluster often suffering severely. Really more injury is done by the caterpillars of this brood than by those of the second one, yet one rarely notices the work of these June larvae. They can be reached at this time very effectively with a poison solution. By July, when the caterpillars have become full grown, they crawl to the leaves, cut a peculiar flap from the leaf, pull it over and tie it down with silken threads. They then live the inside of this with silk, thus forming a cocoon, in which the larvae transform to pupae. In about two weeks the second brood of moths begins to come forth from these cocoons and in a few days begin to lay their shining eggs on the grape berries and on the stems. When these eggs hatch the emerging caterpillars gnaw their way through the skin of the berry and burrow inside of the grape. It is these caterpillars that are best known and that cause the "wormy" grapes. Note that they cannot be reached with a poison at this time.

The most noticeable and destructive work is done by this brood of caterpillars working in the grapes in July and August. The berries often become infected by fungi as a result of the injuries caused by the insect, and decay soon sets in. Where this pest is abundant the injury is often quite extensive. When these caterpillars reach full size they make cocoons on the leaves exactly like those of the first brood, and many of the later ones pass the winter as pupae in their cocoons attached to the fallen leaves lying on the ground. There may be a partial third brood of caterpillars that the grape berry moth is best controlled by spraying with arsenate of lead for the first brood of caterpillars in June.

Care of Strawberry Plants.

It is very often the case that plants are received several days before the ground is ready for setting. Since the plants come tied in bundles and packed in damp moss it is very necessary that they be opened and spread out to prevent molding. The only safe and economical way is to heel them in. Select a well drained piece of land, remove the trash, if any, and spade up deeply. Level off the soil and cut a trench deep enough to admit the roots without doubling up. One side of the trench should be nearly perpendicular. Lay the plants on the perpendicular side of the trench so that all of the root system comes below the surface, but not so deep that the crowns may be covered. In the latter instance the crowns will rot if allowed to remain in the ground for any length of time. Spread out the roots and place the plants so that they barely touch. Fill up the trench with fine soil and pack down firmly with the foot. Be sure there are no air spaces left among the roots. Be sure that the roots do not extend above the ground. If there is any danger of cold damaging the plants cover over with a light coating of straw. Do not put it on very deep.

Scandal is a very effective selling crop.

Ten to one there is a surplus of lawyers, doctors and clerks in your community and a shortage of farm help.

The suggestion was made at a local English farmers' meeting that all moles should be killed at public expense. Next!

A Pennsylvania woman burned her husband's wooden leg as the only way to prevent him from going to a saloon. The judge upheld her.

Well, sir, if people cannot get beef, pork or mutton at fair prices they will eat more eggs and chickens. Mrs. Hen is coming to the front.

The figures show that 182,000 persons attended the various farmers' institute meetings in New York last winter. Of course many of these attended several sessions.

In England the trade in worn-out or "sore" city horses has become so bad that parliament is asked for a law authorizing inspectors to kill all such animals that are found "doctored" or badly lame or diseased.—Rural New Yorker.
